

GCSE

C700U10-1

ENGLISH LANGUAGE – Component 1

20th Century Literature Reading and Creative Prose Writing

MONDAY, 5 NOVEMBER 2018 – MORNING

1 hour 45 minutes plus your additional time allowance

ADDITIONAL MATERIALS

Resource Material for use with Section A.

You may write your answers in a WJEC pink 16-page answer booklet.

You may also write your answers on a separate answer sheet if preferred.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CANDIDATES

Use black ink, black ball-point pen or your usual method.

Answer ALL questions in Section A.

Select ONE title to use for your writing in Section B.

Write your answers in the separate answer booklet provided or on a separate answer sheet if preferred.

Write the question number at the start of each answer.

You are advised to spend your time as follows:

Section A

- reading – about 10 minutes plus your additional time allowance
- answer the questions – about 50 minutes plus your additional time allowance

Section B

- planning – about 10 minutes plus your additional time allowance
- writing – about 35 minutes plus your additional time allowance

INFORMATION FOR CANDIDATES

Section A (Reading): 40 marks

Section B (Writing): 40 marks

The number of marks is given in brackets at the end of each question or part-question.

SECTION A: 40 marks

Read carefully the passage in the SEPARATE RESOURCE MATERIAL FOR USE WITH SECTION A. Then answer ALL the questions below.

The passage in the separate Resource Material is about Samuel Hamilton and his wife, Liza.

Read lines 1-11 (from the beginning of the passage to ‘...as every Irishman is.’) and answer Question

0	1
---	---

.

0	1
---	---

List FIVE things you learn about the Hamiltons in these lines. [5 marks]

Read lines 12-32 (from ‘Why Samuel left the stone house...’ to ‘...show her feelings.’) and answer Question

0	2
---	---

.

0	2
---	---

What impressions does the writer create of Samuel and Liza in these lines? [5 marks]

You must refer to the language used in the text to support your answer, using relevant subject terminology where appropriate.

Read lines 33-93 (from ‘When Samuel and Liza came...’ to ‘as though this was not the place for it’) and answer Question

0	3
---	---

.

0	3
---	---

What sort of man is Samuel Hamilton? How does the writer show what sort of man Samuel Hamilton is? [10 marks]

You must refer to the language used in the text to support your answer, using relevant subject terminology where appropriate.

Read lines 94-122 (from ‘Liza Hamilton was a very different...’ to the end of the passage) and answer Question

0	4
---	---

.

0	4
---	---

How does the writer present the character of Liza Hamilton in these lines? [10 marks]

You must refer to the language and structure used in the text to support your answer, using relevant subject terminology where appropriate.

To answer Question

0	5
---	---

 you must consider the passage as a whole.

0	5
---	---

 “The writer shows that life for immigrants such as the Hamiltons was very hard.”
How far do you agree with this view? [10 marks]

You should write about:

- your thoughts and feelings about how the life of the Hamiltons is presented in the passage as a whole
- how the writer has created these thoughts and feelings

You must refer to the text to support your answer.

SECTION B: 40 marks

In this section you will be assessed for the quality of your CREATIVE PROSE WRITING skills.

24 marks are awarded for communication and organisation; 16 marks are awarded for vocabulary, sentence structure, spelling and punctuation.

You should aim to write about 450-600 words.

Choose ONE of the following titles for your writing:

[40 marks]

EITHER,

1	1
---	---

(a) Write a story which begins:

I can clearly remember that family gathering.

OR,

1	1
---	---

(b) The Race.

Or,

1	1
---	---

- (c) Write about a time when you felt let down by a friend.

OR,

1	1
---	---

- (d) Write a story which ends:

...and I realised that some things are more important than money.

You can use the following space or a separate sheet of paper to plan your work.

END OF PAPER

BLANK PAGE

GCSE

C700U10-1A

ENGLISH LANGUAGE – Component 1

20th Century Literature Reading and Creative Prose Writing

MONDAY, 5 NOVEMBER 2018 – MORNING

RESOURCE MATERIAL FOR USE WITH SECTION A

SECTION A: 40 marks

Read carefully the passage below.

This passage is about Samuel Hamilton and his wife, Liza. They emigrated from Ireland to America in the nineteenth century.

Young Samuel Hamilton came to America from the north of Ireland and so did his wife. He was the son of farmers, neither rich nor poor, who had lived on one farm and in one stone house for many 5 hundreds of years. The Hamiltons were intelligent and well-educated people and, as is so often true in that green country, they were related to very great people and very small people so that one cousin might be a lord and another cousin might be a 10 beggar. And of course they were descended from the ancient kings of Ireland, as every Irishman is.

Why Samuel left the stone house and green acres of his ancestors I do not know. He was totally honest, so trouble with the police was not the reason, 15 but there was a whisper in the family that it was love that drove him out of Ireland. Whether he left because of a too successful love, or heartbroken because of an unsuccessful love I do not know. We always preferred to think it was the former. Samuel 20 had good looks and charm and it is hard to imagine that any girl refused him.

He came to America full of energy and invention. His hands were clever and he was a good blacksmith and carpenter. He was forever inventing a new way 25 of doing an old thing better and quicker but in his whole life he never had any talent for making money. I don't know what directed his steps to the Salinas Valley but he brought with him his tiny Irish wife, Liza, who was a hard and humourless woman. I 30 think there must have been another girl printed in his heart for he was a man of love and she was not a woman to show her feelings.

When Samuel and Liza came to the Salinas Valley, all the good land was taken and they were forced to 35 farm in the barren hills. Samuel built his house with his own hands, and he built a barn and a blacksmith shop but their land was harsh and dry. There were no springs and the crust of topsoil was so thin that even grass struggled to exist. Even in reasonably 40 good years there was so little feed that the cattle were thin from running about looking for enough to eat. From their barren hills the Hamiltons could look down and see the richness of the land in the bottom of the valley and the greenness around the Salinas
45 river. However, Samuel found quite soon that even if he had ten thousand acres of this hill country he could not make a living without water.

His clever hands made a machine to bore for water on the land of luckier men. He also invented and 50 made a threshing machine and he moved through the farms in the valley at harvest time, threshing the grain his own farm would not grow. In his blacksmith shop he sharpened and mended tools and shod horses. Men from all over the valley 55 brought him tools to mend and it was a bad day when three or four men were not standing around watching him work. Besides, they loved to hear Samuel talk of the world and events outside the valley and they brought whisky too. Out of sight of 60 the kitchen window and the disapproving eye of Mrs Hamilton, they drank from the bottle and listened to Samuel's hammer and his talk. They called him a comic genius and carried his stories carefully home, and they wondered how the stories spilled out on 65 the way home for they never sounded the same when they repeated them in their own kitchens.

Samuel should have been rich from his work, but he had no gift for business. His customers, always pressed for money themselves, promised payment 70 after harvest, and then after Christmas and then after – until at last they forgot it. Samuel had no gift for reminding them. And so the Hamiltons remained poor.

The children came along as regularly as the years.
75 The overworked doctors in the county did not often get to the ranches for a birth and Samuel delivered all his own children. He tied the cords neatly, spanked the bottoms to get them breathing and cleaned up the mess. When his youngest was born 80 with some obstruction, Samuel put his mouth to the baby's mouth and blew air in and sucked it out until the baby could take over for himself. Samuel's hands were so good and so gentle that neighbours from twenty miles away would call on him to help

 85 with a birth. And he was equally good with mare, cow or woman.

Samuel had no equal for soothing and bringing quiet to a frightened child. It was the sweetness of his voice and the tenderness of his soul. Men coming 90 to his blacksmith shop to talk and listen dropped their cursing for a while, not from any restraint but automatically, as though this was not the place for it.

Liza Hamilton was a very different kettle of Irish. Her 95 head was small and round and it held small, fixed convictions. She was set on her course even though the angels of God argued against it. She had a code of morals that pinned down and beat the brains out of nearly everything that was pleasant to do.

100 Liza was a good plain cook and her house – it was always her house – was fiercely brushed and washed. Having her children did not hold her back very much – she had to be careful for two weeks at the most and then life went on as normal.

105 Liza had a finely developed sense of sin. Idleness was a sin, as was card playing, which to her was a kind of idleness. She was suspicious of fun whether it involved dancing or singing or even laughter. She felt that people having a good time were wide open 110 to the devil. And this was a shame, for Samuel was a laughing man, but I guess he was wide open to the devil. His wife protected him whenever she could.

She wore her hair always pulled tight back and tied in a hard knot. Since I can't remember how she 115 dressed, it must have been that she wore clothes that matched herself exactly. She had no spark of humour and only occasionally a sharp blade of cutting wit. She frightened us grandchildren because she had no weakness. She suffered bravely 120 and uncomplainingly through life, convinced that that was the way her God wanted everyone to live.
She felt that rewards came later.

John Steinbeck

